Fifteen "hoboes" were arrested by the police in Freinghuysen-ave, at midnight Monday, and yesterday they were sent to jail for ninety days. W. W. Winner, secretary of the Newark Business College, lives at Waverly. He rode toward his house on a bicycle Monday night. At the crossing of the Lehigh Valley Railroad a man in a busky, who was driving rapidly, called out in passing him to look out for himself, as he had been attacked by some men down the road. Winner rode on, and presently saw a line of men stretched across the roadway. They formed a bridge as he got near. Winner at first rode hard, directly ahead, thinking to break through, and then, changing his mind, he swiftly turned about and rode toward Newark. He was followed by a volley of oaths and a shower of stones. Reaching Newark, he informed the police, and a squad of men went to the avenue and routed out all the tramps in the freight cars and old shantles in the vicinity. In one place over forty men clustered together. They made a break for liberty, but fifteen were captured.

A GOVERNESS KILLS HERSELF. SHE HAD ONCE BEEN WELL TO DO AND HAD A NIECE EMPLOYED IN THE IMPERIAL FAMILY OF GERMANY.

Miss Hattle Haerder, a refined and well-educated German woman, who had been employed as a governess, committed suicide on Monday night at No SC Nassau-st, where she occupied a furnished room. She was sixty years old and despondent because she broke her left arm three weeks ago and the bones-falled to knit rapidly. She had lived at No 88 Nasscu-st, for a few weeks and had the privi-lege of preparing her breakfast in the kitchen of the house, which is kept by Mrs. Eliza Wray. When she failed to appear yesterday Mrs. Wray sent the housemaid to see if she was up. As the girl got no response to her knock, she climbed a stepladder and looked through the fanlight. She saw Miss Haerder crouched on the floor. A policeman was sent for, who broke open the door. The occupant was found dead. Paris green was on her mouth, saucer, with a vial of carbolic acid near it.

Miss Haerder broke her arm while employed at No. 41 South Oxford-st., where she fell downstairs. Mrs. Wray said that Miss Haerder told her she had a niece who was employed as a governess in the imperial family of Germany, and that she herself

She went out on Morday afternoon, taking her sok, and said she would place it in the custbankbook, and said she would place it in the custody of a friend, a man who occasionally called on her. Mrs. Overbeek, of No. 286 Degraw-st, who met Miss Haerder in the country and became interested in her, had a visit from her on Moniny afternoon. Mrs. Overbeck said that Miss Haerder had always been reticent about herself and volunteered little information. She was a woman of refinement and education, but had been in straitened circumstances for some time. On Monday she was despondent, and said that her broken arm would never heal, and that there was nothing save death left for her,

SHE DIED FROM THE EFFECT OF BURNS. While Mrs. Hannah Bromberg, seventy-seven of No. 744 North Fifth-st., was making a fire in the kitchen stove at 5 o'clock yesterday morning, her clothing became ignited, and before the flames were put out she had been so badly burned that she died five hours later in great agony. The aged woman lived with her husband, who is blind and deaf. Mr. Bromberg is three years his wife's senior. In the neighborhood where they lived Mrs. Bromberg was called by the children "Granny Bromberg." The couple were susperted by a son-in-law.

When the Rev. Dr. Charles H. The letter was in his hand when he began to make his speech, and it served as a text for part of his remarks, but as he became interested in speaking he forgot about the letter, and did not read it to the audience, which filled the church. He had written to Mayor Sasking to Mayor had been a letter and the letter. to Mayer Schleren to inquire what part in the work f political reform in Brooklyn had been performed by the women of that city, and he had re reply of Brooklyn's Mayor yesterday. The letter was as follows reply of Brookiyn's Mayor yesterday. The letter was act follows:

Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst.

Dear Sir: In answer to your favor of to-day, p.r-mil me to state that the women of this city were very active in the last campaign. We have in this city what we call the "Women's Health Protective Association." Their scope of work almost covers the entire city. They were organized ostensibly for the pratection of health and to see that the sanitary conditions and laws of this city were properly executed. They did not meet with much encouragement from the last administration and determined to throw their influence on the side of reform. They were very active in the campaign and enlisted their husbands to active duty and in various ways aided the reform movement by holding public meetings and arging women of the city to influence their husbands to vote for reform. There are a number of women's clubs in this city, among the more prominent of which are Women's Temperance Union, the Civitas Club. No. 169 Jerolemon-st., Daughters of the Ecvalution, No. 80 Jerolemon-st., Daughters of the Ecvalution, No. 80 Vile-st.; the Froebel Society, No. 688 Lafayette-st.; Women's Progressive Union, No. 80 Court-st.; Women's Health Protective Association, No. 98 Deane-st., and Young Women's Christian Association, And all were active in bringing about the reform, and I firmly believe that the grand result of the uprising of our people in this city was largely due to the stand that the noble women of Brooklyn took on this question; and I believe that if the women of New-York felt so disposed they could aid in your movement very much. The women were also very careful not to bring up the suffrage question in the reform movement of last year, which would have met with antagonism and hurt the movement.
